Take a look at mankind, see what we created
Take a look at the world, its all infected
By illusions designed to make us happy, to keep us down
Force-fed visions fit for use for the few
Daily propaganda of how to make dreams come true

Consumers valued high, others might as well...
Just lay down and die!
Just lay down and die!
Just lay down and die!
Or buy another lie

To die with the most toys, thats satisfaction
Every day in the life is competition
Things you never wanted, never ever needed
Turns out to be your next top-priority
Couldnt live a day without car, computer or TV

Common sense was lost long time ago
No room for compassion in the money-flow
No signs of change, no ends in sight
Just a feeling of depression in the air
A feeling of frustration and despair

Its time for us to kiss this world goodbye
