I know you don't like to be left that way
So I go back and turn around turn around Before you get lost and scream and cry and scream and cry

We don't need a light babe just to see
That you're always holding on me
From first to last you keep hold me down and hold me
down and down

I should stop pretend and stop this lie
And stop this things before it's too late
I should stop pretend and make this right

Baby it's enough for this years
And you can make me your fears
Than you should believe it
I know you will much better when you're not here

Baby it's enough for this years
And you can stop dry your tears
And you should forget me
Things get way so much harder since your here

No more regret and no more curse, come on!
And you will learn to understand understand there's so much things to do
But scream and cry and scream and cry

We don't need a light babe just to see
That you're always holding on me
From first to last you keep hold me down and hold me
down and down

Bridge:
I should stop pretend and stop this lie
And stop this things before it's too late
I should stop pretend and make this right

Reff:
Baby it's enough for this years
And you can make me your fears

Than you should believe it
I know you will much better when you're not here

Baby it's enough for this years
And you can stop dry your tears
And you should forget me
Things get way so much harder since your here
