I feel I was lost, never meant to be found, floating in a rainbow of emotion Just then an accidental twist of fate, had let me know that it was not too late And from out of the blue you came into my life, as if I were the only one alive I have to tell you what you've done for me although I'm inside out,
it's just so hard to believe

Quick turn around, I stepped into another room, I'm lost but found, with you I'm in another world
In a flash of love you've changed my everything, in a flash of love, you've given me a reason
You turned my world around in a flash of love, in a flash of love, I found something to believe in

When I was alone, I'd be turning the pages, it seemed like the story would never end Time would come when I could use a change, I'd seen it all, and it all looked the same I didn't know what to do when I ran into you, looking like a picture of perfection I've always thought that you'd be hard to find, but looking in your eyes I found no time for surprise

Quick turn around, I stepped into another world,
I'm lost but found, with you I'm in another world
In a flash of love you've changed my everything,
in a flash of love, you've given me a reason
You turned my world around in a flash of love,
in a flash of love, I found something to believe in

Sometimes it can happen so fast, quick turn and you step into another room Blindsight, breaking out of the past, lightning strikes and you know this time it's gonna last In a flash of love you changed my everything,
in a flash of love, you've given me a reason
You turned my world around in a flash of love,

In a flash of love...
