

You Army "Bound Release"

Visit "Bound Release" on MotoLyrics.com

1st

I'm lying around I'm wasting a frown
So where you wanna go tonight, where you wanna run tonight?
Times might have changed but some things remain
I place my lips on your earth, Precious is it's worth
But don't forget sometimes.

Chorus

I want to go home
To where I belong
And if it's dark and cold
That's when you'll light up my soul.

2nd

I splash on my face we could tear down a race
But is there a buzz at all, yet someone's gotta take the fall
If I start to complain you might think I'm that vain
That I'd return you to my own, something that you stole.
But don't forget sometimes

Chorus

Musical Interlude

3rd

Some distance is near is that what you fear
You can write it in yellow blood and try to murder my only son
The haze might have passed, my hearts beating fast
Whisper to me now, my conscience screams out loud.
But don't forget sometimes

Chorus

Bridge

Don't forget me when I'm dreaming

Visit You Army page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

