If I had to make a list of every reason
Not to keep on keepin' on,
Number 2 would be the pencil I have to find:
Ticonderoga, ten feet long.
And number twenty-two thousand three-hundred and eight
Would be my overwhelming urge to hyperbolate,
But sadly, most of all, at the top of my list,
Would be the fear of commitment in my penman's fist.

It feels like fifteen elephants sittin' on my chest,
Thirty-six vultures pickin' at my flesh.
Solo man-overboard without a lifevest;
Now I'm a little weighed down, but I'm doin' my best.

I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit - I just need a little bit more time.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more - come here!
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.

I've got this nagging bill collector;
He calls me every thirty days,
Says he plans to serve me papers
And take what hasn't already gone up in flames.
That fire's still burning fast and hard.
It's too hot in here to think,
And the only hose aimed to save this house
Pulls out from its kitchen sink.

It feels like fifteen elephants sittin' on my chest,
Thirty-six vultures pickin' at my flesh.
Solo man-overboard without a lifevest;
Yeah, I'm a little weighed down, but I'm doin' my best.

I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,

A little bit - I just need a little bit more time.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more - come here!
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.

Trust in what we started...
We can get this right.

Just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.
Just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit - I just need a little bit more time.

I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit - I just need a little bit more time.
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more - come here!
I just want a little bit more, a little bit more,
A little bit more, a little bit more tonight.
