Young Bleed
"Unchained Someday"

Visit "Unchained Someday" on MotoLyrics.com

If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by

If only I could close my eyes
And the whole world's gone
If nobody could see my disguise
And realize I'm wrong

I'd like to shut the door
Leave all trouble behind
Closing it all to the core
And finding peace of mind

If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by
Has everything I learned so far all been called a lie?
Yes I tried to make it right for you, for everyone
Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong

Maybe I will be unchained someday...

Living with principles
I made so long ago
Living in chains
That I don't want to show
Living with pain
But I cannot let go
Living in sorrow
When will I say... no?

Forever haunting memories
Never fulfilling dreams

I have to break free
And make myself see

If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by
Has everything I learned so far all been called a lie?
Yes I tried to make it right for you, for everyone
Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong
If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by
Has everything I learned so far all been called a lie?
Yes I tried to make it right for you, for everyone

Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong
If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by
Has everything I learned so far all been called a lie?
Yes I tried to make it right for you, for everyone
Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong
If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by

Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong
If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by
Has everything I learned so far all been called a lie?
Yes I tried to make it right for you, for everyone
Deep inside I see myself, I ain't that strong
If nothing changes I see all my chances passing by