George zimmerman I hope that you can see all the pain that you caused trayvon's family might not be in jail now but your soul will never be free cold blooded racism going on in the streets a white man in the hoodie it mean he joggin black man in the hoodie mean he robbin and then they wonder why we crazy fuck that pastor slave thinkin man it's time to get shady the whole world wanna talk about kony but ain't nobody speakin on the little homie so many trayvons over the years left so many black moms man puzzled in tears we kill and we in the cell doing life they kill once postin bails cause they white then they wonder why we stressed askin God for a blessing

Sometimes I feel like God don't love me if He did he wouldn't let the world f*ck me everybody that love me it seem like they took from me Sometimes I feel like God don't love me then I realize it ain't God its the people this whole world turned evil just 'cause ya neighborhood watch think that maen you can kill a man peace trayvon this shit make me wanna killin a man

I guess I'm tryin just keep Bob alive hard to carry on when you keep this close a dime waking up to see the same shit day to corner and the ..the body is getting .. the shit is get to ghetto looking for a better day, still searching my mama years of pain to going on won't go, wake up every morning and my heart still hurting the ghetto America see nigga I don't.. just ghetto it's hard to ..this tears falling down what that supposed to be when that a man my mama worked the job should I raised myself my brother did his best with the ..from the sale and listen to the..I got 25 with it ill got me asking God what is it all worth and then I'm humble 'cause I know it being worse

Sometimes I feel like God don't love me
everybody that love they seem like they took from me Sometimes I feel like God don't love me then I realize it ain't God is just people whole world turned evil just 'cause she neighborhood watch you can kill a man trade time she can make me wanna killin me
