I couldn't stop it if I tried
The conversation spills out left and right
It's like a holiday vacation and we're making our getaway
To uncharted territory
We're pulling out childhood stories
New forms of interrogation
We're taking a lot but we won't call it wasted time

It's five thirty and the sun is coming up
Do you want to stay the night or stay the day
Anyway that you want to stay is okay
Even if you wanted to stay another day
And do the same thing we did today
Anyway you want you can stay.

You could drive all the way home
But you know we'd be talking on the phone
It's like a sunny day
Better soak it up and hope that it's here to stay
So take off your shoes and stay don't go
You could just make yourself at home

It's five thirty and the sun is coming up
Do you want to stay the night or stay the day
Anyway that you want to stay is okay
Even if you wanted to stay another day
And do the same thing we did today
Anyway you want you can stay.

You don't have to go
You don't even know
Just how much I want you
To stay with me and I will show you then you'll see How long this could possibly go on

It's five thirty and the sun is coming up
Do you want to stay the night or stay the day
Anyway that you want to stay is okay
Even if you wanted to stay another day
And do the same thing we did today
Anyway you want you can stay.
