You've never know it, I try not to show it

I try hard to hide

The way I feel inside

Hoping you'd notice me

Praying you'll talk to me cause I. Because I

I don't think I'm able

To keep myself stable

No matter how hard I try

Afraid to be denied

If I could stop trembling

Long enough to tell you that I love ya

Just say I love ya

Such simple words to say

But the words tend to disappear

Every time I feel you near me

Such simple words to say

I've rehearsed them a thousand times

When you're close enough to hear the lines I'm using

I just can't use them

And love from a distance

I need your assistance

Help me find the words to say

There's got to be a way

To tell you you're everything

Without you life don't mean a thing..I need ya oh I need ya

Such simple words to say

But they carry an awesome weight

Forcing me to hesitate

Such simple words to say

I've rehearsed them a thousand times

When you're enough to hear the lines I'm using

If I could stop trembling, long enough to tell you that I love ya

Just say I love ya

Such simple words to say

But they carry an awesome weight

Forcing me to hesitate

Such simple words to say

I've rehearsed them a thousand times

using

I just can't use them

Oh I love ya...
