In the name of God, you kill
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you conquered
In the name of your God

All religion should be wiped out
So that people may just live
What divides us is an illusion
Made up by men in their confusion

In the name of God, you kill
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you conquered
In the name of your God

And in the name of God, you hate
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you boast
In the name of your God

Spoke of love, no one would listen
Seems everyone's trying to prove something
Starting over may be the best thing
So stop the bombs and let's begin

'Cause this war no one can win
And it seems I'll never learn
Oh, this war no one can win
Well, it seems I'll never learn

In the name of God, you kill
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you conquered
In the name of your God
In the name of God
In the name of your God

All religion should be wiped out
Save the people stand and live
What divides us is an illusion
Made up by men in their confusion

In the name of God, you kill
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you conquered
In the name of your God

In the name of God, you boast
In the name of your God
In the name of God, you hate
In the name of your God

In the name of your God
Why do you kill, why do you hate?
In the name of God
In the name of God
In the name of God
