Take a walk, take the last step
Towards the end
On the backbone of night
These might be the last steps we set

As we climb to the stars
To the stars
As we climb to the stars
Towards the end

A depressive earth with a depressive shape
They will tear holes into the ground
Then we will watch the world burn down
The world burn down, the world burn down

It seems today
Has come for me
Please God
Come save me

Take a walk, take a step forward
And don't look back
As the world burns in silence
No one's there to challenge

As we climb to the stars
To the stars
As we climb to the stars

It seems today
Has come for me
Please God
Come save me

Take a walk, take a step forward
And don't look back
As the world burns in silence
No one's there to challenge
As we climb towards the stars

Take a walk, take the last step
Towards the end

On the backbone of night
These might be the last steps we set

As we climb to the stars
To the stars
As we climb towards the end

It seems today
Has come for me
Please God
Come save me

It seems today
Has come for me
Please God
Come save me
