I feel the horror cut my skin
The blood appears deep within
My senses filled with frightened thoughts
Deep inside, eternal dark

At first I feel all alone
But then the night becomes my home
Then evil thoughts fill my head
As I realize that I'm dead

I'll be always be near you when you are scared
Deep in your dreams and even nightmares
And when the dark creeps in a new moon night
You'll feel my cold hands grip you tight

Wandering the vacant streets alone
I stop to see if you're home
Standing in front of the bathroom mirror
Your lovely eyes were filled with tears

I would send my soul to hell
To hold you close and know you're well
But alas my love will never be
For now I follow the shadow's lead

I'll be always be near you when you are scared
Deep in your dreams and even nightmares
And when the dark creeps in a new moon night
You'll feel my cold hands grip you tight

I feel the horror, I feel the horror
