Everyday in my get up I get down
Her butterflies always screaming too loud
Dig me yes and don't you cry
Never kiss a rubber soul goodbye
So heavy sometimes

You crush me like a cannonball
Heavy
So heavy sometimes
Like it was nothing at all
Heavy

She left her head, for a boy in a magazine
Yesterday was tranquillizing serene
Between sips of gasoline
Inside out she pours herself a dream

So heavy sometimes
You crush me like a cannonball
Heavy
So Heavy sometimes, like it was nothing at all
Heavy

Glamorous so addictive outtasite
Everybody's traffic is jamming tonight
Dig me up I dont' know why
You never kissed a rubber soul goodbye

So heavy sometimes
You crush me like a cannonball
Heavy
So heavy sometimes, like it was nothing at all
Heavy
So heavy sometimes
You drown me with your waterfall
Heavy
So heavy sometimes, like it was nothing at all
Heavy
