I saw you starin' at each other
I saw your eyes begin to glow
And I could tell you once were lovers
You ain't hidin' nothing that I don't know

There's an old flame burin' in your eyes
That tears can't drown and make-up can't disguise
Now that old flame might not be stronger but it's been
burnin' longer
Than any spark I might have started in your eyes

You said it ended when he left you
You say your love for me is strong
But those old memories still upset you
Well I might be a memory before too long

'Cause there's an old flame burin' in your eyes
That tears can't drown and make-up can't disguise
Now that old flame might not be stronger but it's been
burnin' longer
Than any spark I might have started in your eyes

There's an old flame burnin' in your eyes
That tears can't drown and make-up can't disguise
Now that old flame might not be stronger but it's been
burnin' longer
Than any spark I might have started in your eyes
