Fixed in motion, for me, can't make it vertical Mixed emotion, to me it feels like vertigo

Frantically I put the pieces of me together
I can see this is the place that I'll be forever

I'm waiting still, waiting here in Neversville
And now I see, no one else is waiting for me
But if you knew, all I do I do it for you
Would anything undo?

In this moment to be, in mind a visual
Is this all meant to be, or is it fictional Fixed in motion, for me, I know I want to know
Mixed emotion, for me, is it my time to go?

Basically, I want what everyone needs, admit it Possibly this is the closest I'll be to get it

I'm waiting still, waiting here in Neversville
And now I see, no one else is waiting for me
But if you knew, all I do I do it for you
Would anything undo?

How have I made it here, have I gone far?
How have I made it here, how do you make it somewhere if you don't even know where you are?
What am I waiting for, why don't I know?
What am I waiting for, why am I waiting for nothing, and why don't I know where to go?

I want to be where it all gets pushed away
I want to see how the world turns its head away
I want to be where you never will
I am Neversville
