the saucers
are being launched again taking off to other spheres and then
the noise coming from the purple sky
for the earthlings who know it indicates another try

kings of the universe
they've been cruising
through the vacuum
desperate to find someone who would take over their burden they're fed up with filling black holes and fixing broken galaxies they've had enough of avoiding wars between slimy roosters and

marshmallow dwarfs

they've been traveling
till they landed their space module right into a swimming pool
