I think Iâ€™m drowning in a main stream again all those Phils and Chers that nobody cares about itâ€™s like a fire in the wire a fear in my ear
no clues in the air, only jelly everywhere

I guess I really have to switch the frequency
for I do not want to go dumb

this is radio, radio monotone

the moment that they put the needle down it is the sign to get ready for another commercial round like a fire through the wire I get the burning desire to shoot this thing onto the moon and even higher and higher

I could also just switch
the frequency
no, I just donâ€™t want

they know about fifty songs and they play them all day long â€™cause this is radio, radio monotone
