All the world must really love you i see through your disguise Pose and smile for the camera pretty pictures pretty lies
I can see you drowning your ocean of deceit Grab hold of your only Hope a hand to lift you to your feet
Open your eyes lay down your pride Your answer is soon to come Seek you will find the piece inside (peace inside)
Can be filled by only One Talk from both sides of your faces you're always in the know Tell me how does your foot taste choking in your afterglow
There's that empty feeling does it keep you up at night It's time you faced your fears take a stand for what is right
What's said in the dark is heard in the light
Take a sober look with a lucid heart decide
