Your hands they are on my throat,
Squeezing so tight enough to choke,
Choke me out.
I'm fading out!

In the cages I will lay,
Waiting here until my day.
You set me free, you set me free.
For now I will wait,
Biting and holding my tongue.
And I will wait.

If I told you,
I'd have to kill you.
Our love for war will never die.
In this battlefield,
There's only one way,
To end our lives,
This silver bullet around my... neck.

I'll carve that smile from your face,
And then you'll know how it tastes.
All the mistakes you have made,
When your mouth hits my blade.
And now I'll sleep tonight,
Knowing your bloods in my veins,
Ripping the flesh from your...

And tonight we rise up,
And now you know our secret!

If I told you,
I'd have to kill you,
Our love for war will never die.
In this battlefield,
There's only one way,
To end our lives,
This silver bullet around my neck.
In this battlefield,
There's only one way,
To end our lives,
This silver bullet around my, around my neck.

Half breeds,
Crawling the streets,
Dripping flesh from their teeth.

Let's go.

The stars collide and I know I will never see my love again.
So I'll bless this room with holy water and cheap thrills to...
What if I drag this knife across his throat to wear his skin? to...
Now I'll never get my chance to see my love again.
