"Ready Now"

Echoes of words foolishly said - intense regret
Reliving senseless things that i've done in my head
I try so hard to be a man
The mirror reflects a child
Every day's the same - no one's to blame
No one except for me
I've been thinking about the two of us
One thing i have found
I can't give You any reason
Why i search around
I know You'll never let me down
So from my heart i say- i'm ready now
Wanting to change what i've become but where do I start
When I hold the failure of yesterday in my heart
After all the times i've let you down
And after all the times i've turned away
Here i am now tears falling down i'm ready to stay
