

Atman

"A World Without You, Imagination"

Visit "A World Without You, Imagination" on MotoLyrics.com

My Imagination forever took me to dwell upon that World where nothingness is all and out of nothingness emerges all where there are no shapes or colours where for you it is all grey where the five senses of human beings are as absurd as their own existence

I knew that in that World there was no need for all of that

And in it I did know that Souls were formed levitated and connected with each other bathing in the flowing energy that they themselves emitted In that World I wanted to belong and cease to be human I wished to be as perfect as those Souls never to disappear Those that ignore I did hate that proud of their material plane lived wallowing in other ruin not a crumb of their Imagination using Imagination to express their Feelings Imagination to express their Magic Imagination to express their Ego Imagination to express their Art

I hated, hated those that ignored that Art is the strength of the Mind and those that made out of it unclean transactions

But day and night I wept when I felt that my own brain was unprepared to connect to that World

A World without You, Imagination
A World without You Is Consternation

But now Iâ€™m here on an Immaterial Plane Suicide did cause my death and now I know that my Dreams were true

Hardly can one who never lived a Dream get to the place that I inhabit nor feel Plenitude nor feel Ingravidness nor feel Eternity Dreaming alive is necessary wrong is he who disbelieves in other Dimension and who before a god does kneel

Open your Minds and enter Art form part of it and be illuminated by Passion and Poetry creating from one day to another from one night to the next what your repressed Heart demands

A World without You, Imagination
A World without You is Consternation

Otherwise
thou shall never reach me, egoless beings Otherwise
on the material plane thou shall remain

Visit Atman page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.