"Personification Of A Feeling"

Feeling, fruit of the void you were existing energy within me
You never were outside nobody created you From my life you were born and with it too you disappeared

I felt you when you became real when certain vibrations set you ablaze But you were mine, nobody created you

There is no Feeling universal from one being to another to be propagated or spread

There's only a tiny similarity among an infinity of Souls that make excuses for their Feeling and show it with a Personification and a mythification of an inner Feeling of a rotten human being
