Â...His body was sent sailing across the icy floor into the hardened rock wall Â...stars before his eyes perilous is the footing underneath his feet
He could almost feel the touch of elegant fingers
On the side of his face
It teases him
Making him think he is going to get away Â...And the slinky white mist floating before his eyes swarming around his legs

Â...so slick the ice below his legs he puched once more faster than they could go Â...Mist fingersÂ...his motion stopped his deeply frozen flesh Aroused, under his coat
He could almost feel the touch of elegant fingers
Â...As he grab for his heart his life is taken off the misty whisper leaves in the complete darkness beyond.
