I saw your drunken ass at the show Friday night. I almost started a fight. I keep your secrets In my darkest place...even after I've lost my face and lost my space. Twist my already wretched soul. Nobody knows. I swear nobody knows...and I'm a fool on my knees for you thinking you still care you're not here and I'm not there. Speak softly to me without all the sarcasm. No one will ever know, Know the damage we've done what we've become. Nobody knows, nobody knows...I saw your drunken ass at the show Friday night. I wanted to start a fight. I've kept your secrets in my darkest place even after losing face. There's no place for my wretched soul and nobody knows...nobody knows.
