what a wonderful belief in yourself you're finally having you're taking action as submarines are flying straight out of here in yellow jackets
we're punching passes

there's roses blooming out the sides of your face your like the elegant space all around so get free

looming in time through the maze living everyday
and in the ambient shine the vineyards line a dusty twilight or anything else you admire we're in the brilliance of light with sunburned minds
a fleeting fortune this feeling of being alive

it gets lonely at times but everything is alright what a terrible deceit in yourself starting to panic up in the attic you better throw it out the window before we get infected

you won't regret it swirling up into a vertical drain you're like the florescent rain all around

and in the ambient shine the vineyards line

everything is alright life you're the light bloomshine ya know i think were gonna be fine
