"The Love Game"

she needed someone someone to make her believe that love isn't a game
it's reality
she gambled with her heart testing her chances on love torn apart
almost giving up

but he showed her how to play the game he showed her how to win the love game was in her hands and what seemed like the end
was only the beginning

he needed someone someone to make him see give him self confidence a chance to be what he can be so he tried to survive making it on his own but he couldn't do it alone she showed him how to play the game she showed him how to win the love game was in his hands

and what seemed like the end

when everything is going wrong and things don't get any better just stand tall and stay strong cause remember that i will be there when you fall i will be there when you fall
