"I Stop And Get Up"

Well I finally made it through a day without her
I don't feel her presence anywhere
I don't sit around and think about her anymore
Now I've convinced myself that I don't care.

Until I lay my head down on my pillow
Everything starts building up inside
Then a slow realization and a hurtin' sensation
Makes me stop and get up and go out of my mind.

She's back here in my memory just like the night before
She's got me talking to the walls and walking the floor
Lord why can't she leave me alone for just one night
And just stop and get up and go out of my mind.

And just stop and get up and go out of my mind...
