(Shirl Milete - Warren Robb)

I've lost track of all the times I've woke up wasted
Not knowing where I am or where I've been Seeking comfort in the wine and painted faces
Oh, I wonder where my wanting you will end.

'Cause I've been wanting you and loving you with every love I've had
Going through the motions every chance I get
So as I close my eyes and make believe again
Oh, I wonder where my wanting you will end.

Tonight I'll find a stranger I can talk to
And she'll be kind enough to take me in I've got used to waking up in lonely places
Oh, I wonder where my wanting you will end.

'Cause I've been wanting you and loving you with every
love I've had
Going through the motions every chance I get
So as I close my eyes and make believe again
Oh, I wonder where my wanting you will end.

Yes, I wonder where my wanting you will end...
