(Max D. Barnes)

Let's hear it for the workin' man
Everybody give the man a hand
The only hero of this land
Let's hear it for the workin' man.

He's a butcher he's a baker he's a mover and a shaker
And a guy a workin' down at the mill
He's a plumber he's a preacher he's a trucker he's a teacher
He's guy that keeps a payin' the bills.

He's a fella that's farmer and the barber on the corner
And nothin' keeps a good man down
He can build it he can deck it he can cook it he can hack it
He's the hands that make the world go round.

Let's hear it for the workin' man
Everybody give the man a hand
The only hero of this land
Let's hear it for the workin' man.

--- Instrumental ---

He's a driver he's a driller he's a miner he's a miller
Ain't nothin' that the man can't do
He can twist he can turn it he can bang it he can burn it
And make it look just like new.

We use him and abuse him but if we ever lose him
There's gonna be a hell to pay
Let's see a standing ovation for the strength of the Nation
He's the power of the USA.

Let's hear it for the workin' man
Everybody give the man a hand
The only hero of this land
Let's hear it for the workin' man.

Let's hear it for the workin' man
Everybody give the man a hand
The only hero of this land
Let's hear it for the workin' man.

Let's hear it for the workin' man
Everybody give the man a hand
The only hero of this land
Let's hear it for the workin' man...
