(Bobby Fisher - Chris Blake)

I don't save any paper I don't flatten tin cans
I never help with ecology but now I guess I am
I'm still driving my pickup with leaded gasoline
But I'm trying to do my part to use things over again.

I'm recycling memories reusing old dreams
Saving the precious past you shared with me
I'm not wasting one time we've touched I keep relivin'
each scene
I'm recycling memories of love that used to be.

--- Instrumental ---

I still use too much water when I water the lawn Guess I haven't changed that much baby since you've been gone
I wasn't helpin' the world much with environment plans
But I'm saving our memories I use ever one that I can.

I'm recycling memories reusing old dreams
Saving the precious past you shared with me
I'm not wasting one time we've touched I keep relivin'
each scene
I'm recycling memories of love that used to be.

I'm recycling memories of love that used to be...
