It was dark it was lonely it was late it was Monday
And I was looking and she was sittin' at the bar
She was crying and I was trying to get her attention
But she didn't seem to notice that I was standing there at all.

Two lonely people one lonely night
Nothing behind us nothing in sight
The later it got the more it looked right
For two lonely people one lonely night.

--- Instrumental ---

She looked up and I was smiling I filled her glass and she stopped crying
It was late it was Monday it was free
And they were playing some old love song though I hadn't danced in so long
She took me by the hand and I held her close to me.

Two lonely people one lonely night
Nothing behind us nothing in sight
The later it got the more it looked right
For two lonely people one lonely night.

For two lonely people one lonely night...
