Theres a girl walking down the street.
she looks just like you and me and i call out her name again even though i never mean too.
she turns around, and
theres a stanger looking out of her eyes.
And i look away, when i realized that the thing i was looking for has gone missing.
I used to laugh at you cause you were always on time.
You used to yell at me cause i was always changing my mind.
And i cant help but belive
that it should've been me.
Ya everybody thought id be the one to go missing.
While i was out dancing on the ledge
you just fell right over the edge.
and disappeared in to the night
with all the missing.
no one will say it but i see it in their eyes you'll just be another jane doe the dental chart identifies.
You'll just be the better part of some ones heart that went missing.
