Walking through the forest of dreams
As You pass an old man sitting bend on his knees

You stop and ask if he's the one who you seek
He nodded and gave you the words you would need
To understand of what life is made
To understand all the riddles he made

Cause he is the one who made it begin
He is the one controls your thoughts deep within

Refrain:

Master of dreams watching your sleep
Great are the secrets he has to keep
Master of dreams watching your sleep
No one but he will ever know of your deeds

Master of dreams

So as you wake again and wash the sleep off your eyes
You don't know that you're about to die
But you feel there's something deep inside
Something you just can't define in your mind

A seed was planted he will feed and grow
Pulsing veins you don't see but you know
Will become stronger and take control of you
You know in the end there's nothing you can do

Deep in your mind you were led astray
Cause you are the one who's going to pay
A bitter prize for your fuckin' life
You know that you'll never wake up tonight

Cause he's the one who punishes your sins
He's the one blots out your thoughts deep within
