

Moist "Forestfire"

Visit "Forestfire" on MotoLyrics.com what if i were you and you were me.. still can't see the forest fire beyond the trees now i'm standing in a field of green colors burning far as i can see what do you see on my tongue the galaxies so small here ill drink it down and watch the world dissolve now i'm pouring through the universe slipping through the endless stream of time what would you find and i'm flying floating on the wind again hoping it will drag me in can't you see i'm laughing laughing at the consequence laughing at this circumstance don't you know by now wave at all the faces they go by faster that we live before we die now i'm crashing through the open door smiling in a most peculiar way what would you say and i'm falling faster than the waterfall open up and after all can't you see i'm drowning right here in the open air wishing i could still go clear

don't you know by now?
this is what we are
don't you know by now?
this is what we are flying floating on the wind again wishing you will drag me in can't you see i'm hoping wishing i could see myself wishing i was someone else
don't you know by now?
this is what we are
don't you know by now
this is what we are

Visit Moist page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.