My heart has moved on
But wait, that's not true
Perhaps you've never liked me
But I'm in love with you

I know you're not with me
I'll never stand a chance
You've never had me in your heart
Never giving me a glance

But if one of these days you decide
To change your heart, your soul, your mind
If you look deeper, you might find
I'll always let you in

If tears come splashing from your eyes
But you've no shoulder left to cry
And all you wanted was to fly
I'll always let you in

We were always meant to be
Love and laughter is our tool
Oh, the first time I saw you
That first day of school

You're so short and smart
I have so many friends
But you make me want to hold you tight
Until both our worlds end

If you've lost all ones to love
And are wanting to move in
My gates are unlocked and open
I'll always let you in

No matter what those preps say
They can kick themselves again
If you'll take me, I'll help you fly
I'll always let you in

If modern man cannot decide

How large the universe, that's alright
As long as GOC's there, by my side
I'll always let you in

I'll always....
Always let you in...(always)
I'll always....
Always let you in...(always)

And when it's dark...
You have no home...
Your friends aren't there...
You're all alone...
And I walk by...
You think you can't win...
I won't let you down...
I'll let you in.
