If I keep doing this until the end of time then Iâ€™ll feel good even when I die.
Iâ€™ll try not to lust and Iâ€™ll try not to lie and Iâ€™ll feel
good even when I die.
Iâ€™ll rattle my body and Iâ€™ll shake it around and Iâ€™m gonna do it â€™till my knees go out.
I jump up and down and I twist and I shout.
And Iâ€™m gonna sing when I hear that sound.
I take one step and I leave one behind.
Thereâ€™s no tellinâ€™ what you or I may find
if we keep on searchinâ€™ and forget about the time.
Then weâ€™ll all stand together in a neverending line with the smiles of laughter and the smiles with tears.
Itâ€™s okay â€™cause we all have fears.
Weâ€™ll just keep on rhyminâ€™ and grindinâ€™ those gears and when our moment comes weâ€™ll remember these years.
And Iâ€™ll feel good even when I die
â€™cause I know that I was livinâ€™ with pride.
And Iâ€™ll feel good even when I die
â€™cause ya know that I was livinâ€™ it with pride.
[another verse cominâ€™ at ya!]
I wake up today and I step outside.
Thereâ€™s surprises I hide and surprises I find.
I never stop lookinâ€™ but I never look behind
â€™and the direction I go is the way of the mind.
â€™Cause my mind is turninâ€™ and it never stops learning.
Begins where it ends but itâ€™s never returning.
And the words that Iâ€™m singing always make their own meaning
and you canâ€™t believe what it is that youâ€™re reading.
The book of our life it doesnâ€™t start or end.
The chapters flow but they never begin.
The pages break but you still got a pen
so just keep on writing it again and again
and Iâ€™ll feel good even when I die.
â€™Cause ya know that I am living with pride.
And Iâ€™ll feel good even when I die,
â€™cause ya know that I was living it with pride.
