My mind is growing foggy
with different arms around me every day
These dance-club lights are hell lights
I want tainted trysts anyway

The Bible says get something better (than a fling)
But these lonely bloodshot nights (ain't so lonely)
with that stranger that ain't so tight (don't want no friends now)
cause real love ain't for me (so I'll take on the night)

But I know I gotta leave these desperate girls that I take
away
who said an easy woman i seasy to please?
My body burns and I just gotta find away of ending this
slut charade

I don't need somebody, who don't wake me before
she's gone
I don't need someone, who stops at my bed and travels
on it's my fault for looking for a different woman every
night
they could never fill my needy heart, no I....
I don't need nobody. I don't need nobody
I don't need nobody who's no better than me

But I know I gotta leave these desperate girls that I take
away
who said an easy woman is easy to please?
My body burns and I just gotta find away of ending this
slut charade

don't wanna face tomorrow (and do this again)
so heartless and hungover (always on the mend)
I admit I'm just damn lonely (I can make it right) Someone can stop my bleeding (so I'll talke on the night)
But the next morning (I'm gonna find a way)
to be happy (for more than a day)
It's a scary decision (about my life)
Just looking for stability, (not a wife)
