

Box Office Poison "She And Little Kevin"

Visit "She And Little Kevin" on MotoLyrics.com

Late night in the kitchen, serving dinner for her kitten
My sister's doing cartwheels in her sleep
So what if ain't hard to have a little girl's heart?
but her little man better not break her heart apart

She and little Kevin in heaven from the start

Early morning twilight, my sister on my right side
Tight buttoned lips hands around her school bag
Se told me last night she thanked God for her man
So good to have another person in your hand

She and little Kevin hangin heavy by a strand
She and little Kevin dancing slowly with the band

Well sister, one night God came to me
And said sorry for the years of pain
But there's someone for you, waiting for you
And you'll never hurt again

Me and Julie, were living two years in our arms
Laying back our hands, in the dirt of Gunner's Hill
She said "This world may not forgive us
But I know we always will."
But now Julie is livin far west from here.
She hasn't sadi my name or seen my face in a year

Another Friday night, my sister is dreaming of her wedding
Guess she don't wanna learn from my painful lesson
I heard her say she ain't seen a sun like this in years
Oh but sister we have all seen that sun

She and little kevin in heaven as one
She and little together forever or till they're done.

Visit Box Office Poison page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.