Breaks the heart inside of me
Stuck in the dark and I can't see Your light
Like it used to shine on me
Miss the way it used to be
Running free and feeling so alive
Take me there again

I know You hear me
I know You'll help me

I'm waiting here for You
Without You I can't move
There's nothing left to do
I need You to break through
This prayer won't fade away
Please answer me today
There's nothing left to say
I need You to break through

Erase from me what makes me doubt
Please come change me from inside out
The problem lies within
There's no one else who can take this
You fix the flaws that stubbornly persist
I only trust in You

However long it takes, I'm not giving up
I know You'll give me strength til You calm the storm
