Look,
Can you see the fields of wheat?
They don't mean much to me
I can't live on that Still, now
When the sun turns to red
I will match the golden fields
To the color of your hair

This is the secret you will keep within yourself
And are never to forget
One sees well only with the heart
For what truly matters is invisible to the naked eye

And hey, go get back and take a look
At those who've made you feel ashamed
And you will understand
It's yours, the prettiest rose of all
For the efforts you have spent
And the love you have given

(CHORUS)

And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends-ends-ends
And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends
My friend

This is the secret you will keep within yourself

And are never to forget
One sees well only with the heart
For what truly matters is invisible to the naked eye
Hey, hey

(CHORUS)

And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends-ends-ends
And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends

And we will always, always be friends

And we will always, always be friends-ends-ends
And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends
My friend

And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends-ends-ends
And we will always, always be friends
And we will always, always be friends-ends

Always be friends-ends
Always be friends-ends...
