in a quiet little town where the children use to play they would fight till the dark and the dawn of the day happy lives and omit and happy lives are what i'm seeing no one can escape from the fire and the flames and the sorrow that remains we were searching for the answer but got flooded by the rain in a moment what goes out is just what i am repaying they all went insane

oh-oh-oh

tell me something i don't know and where my life will go next promise me all the things you show me and how to save the pain that lives inside your soul regain for

but dont look down now

past the noise that criticized they were bind by the fires leaving ashed on our walls serving fire to the dark running forward sinking backwards

singing sorrow on our words could never reach our destiny only god could ever save us but our time will not arrange us maybe all we ever needed was a leader for the club we are not going to heaven we are all going to hell time can only tell
