Lyrics:

I don't mean to think out loud But you're always trying to remake me into who you'd like to be Don't you ever get tired of hearin' the sound of you own voice I might have a long way to go but I don't need you to tell me about it so

So tell me what could be less beautiful than telling me about how wonderful you are Why don't we get outta here maybe we could go somewhere that you don't have to be perfect and I don't have to stand so far away

I need to know that you're ok Just because you drive me crazy doesn't mean that I don't care I can't pretend that I'm somebody you'd like better But if you feel like hanging out somewhere we could just get outta here Hey, don't you wanna get out of here?

You don't need to waste your time Making lists of all my flaws so you can read them to me I think I know them all by heart that doesn't change anything I'm not the kind to live in fear
I think I'll just get outta here
