

Molly Magdalain "Pretender"

Visit "Pretender" on MotoLyrics.com

I've got a long way to go I've got to walk this line, each step is like a lifetime all alone.
I've got a hard seed to sow.
I need that middle ground but so far I've only found the emptiness between the extremes

I see a million faces I could never remember, sometimes it breaks my heart cause I'm a great
pretender,
yes I'm a great pretender

I've got a whole lot to owe for all the life I've washed away, for every single night and day that I've spent in my head.
I've got a strong need to grow.
I've got get out of these places find a way to make it all make sense I see a million places I could never remember, sometimes it breaks my heart cause I'm a great
pretender,
yes I'm a great pretender

oh I don't want to be here, I don't want to know these days,
I just couldn't be here, I ~ I just couldn't be here, why do I have these things to say?
I don't know why

I see a million faces I could never remember,
sometimes it breaks my heart cause I'm a great
pretender,
yes I'm a great pretender
I've got a long way to go

Visit Molly Magdalain page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

