Open the boxes, unpack what you own.

Hang up some posters and make this a home.

Walk down the stairs and open the door.

Look at the things you've never seen before.

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

Get on the buses, learn numbers and names

Your eyes are the camera, your heart is the frame

Hum a new song as you walk down the streets,

Soon they'll be full with friends and memories.

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...

This is the beginning, of anything you want.

This is the beginning...
