He gets his information from overhearing conversations
He doesn't ask questions, doesn't learn many lessons And he keeps his mouth shut until he boils over and he blows up
And then he can't form his words right, and they don't fit together so tight
And I hope to God that he will find his name, and not listen to his so called friends when they so boldly say,

"This is the way that you are," don't let them say,
"This is the way that you are."

She doesn't have much to say about yesterday or what happened to her when she was eight So she drinks a lot and it makes her feel okay for the moment, but it's gone when she awakes.
And I hope you know that Someone out there loves you So don't give yourself away and don't listen to them when they say,

"This is the way that you are," don't let them say,
"This is the way that you are."

"This is the way that you are," don't let them say,
"This is the way that you are."

Don't let them say,
"This is the way, this is the way that you are."
