On the front page of the paper
Speeding window of a train
On a billboard on a highway
It always looks the same
A smile out of nowhere stops me in my tracks
I can't believe after all this time
You still have that kind of impact

Everywhere I turn I see your face
Provin' that a fool's love never fades
In my mind your image is forever burned
I keep tryin' not to stare but your always there
Everywhere I turn
On a steamed up cafe' window
I spell out your name, baby
I watch people run across the street
Through the pourin' rain
And there you are again so easy to find
Under the umbrella in another woman's eyes

Everywhere I turn I see your face
Provin' that a fool's love never fades
In my mind your image is forever burned
I keep tryin' not to stare but your always there
Everywhere I turn

Well I thought I'd suffered long enough for you babe
And my mind would let go of the pain, anyday
It don't work that way

Everywhere I turn I see your face
Provin' that a fool's love never fades
In my mind your image is forever burned
I keep tryin' not to stare but your always there
Everywhere I turn
Everywhere I turn
Everywhere I turn
Everywhere I turn
Everywhere I turn
