

Cass McCombs "Love Thine Enemy"

Visit "Love Thine Enemy" on MotoLyrics.com

Love thine enemy
Love thine enemy
But hate their lack of sincerity
Love thine enemy
I found this quote in a book and I thought of you
So I walked me out like a moth in the morning dew
And a million cigarettes later the quote reappeared
Now nothing about my love could be called insincere
Love thine enemy
Love thine enemy
But hate their lack of sincerity
Love thine enemy
Every idiot thing you say speaks of pain and truth
Because of the beautiful way your tongue can seduce
What's behind the mountain is a mystery
That's why after the quote I added: sincerity
Love thine enemy
Love thine enemy
But hate their lack of sincerity
Love thine enemy
He tried to come between us like a purple ghoul
Hypocrites especially practice the golden rule
I love what you say though sometimes it's mean Without earthworms how else would the soil keep clean?
Love thine enemy
Love thine enemy
But hate their lack of sincerity
Love thine enemy
[x2]
Love love love my enemy
Love my enemy
But I hate their lack of sincerity
Love thine enemy

Visit Cass McCombs page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.