some really good friends of mine they blew up a factory. no one really knows how it happened and they are still running free, and i think it's funny... just like the berlin disco and the chumps inside and the stupid space shuttle and the fools that cried i've got a mind to build a fucking bomb of my own but my nitroglycerin is out on loan and i'd rather not talk about this on the phone but it's funny... and nobody wants to know what the hell they are doin' all the trash that they buy and the planet they're screwin.
