Creating order from chaos
Believing hope may come
But we choose to end it all
And fall, fall as one

I will cry with you my friend
As I close the final page
For the end of innocence
And the darkness within our hearts

And we're all in this together
All longing for something more
Yearning for word of our lost home
Fearing the savagery
Without and within
As the night closes in
All the hopes we once shared
Come to nothing-our once open lives

Our crushed, broken lives

And will he be standing there
When the smoke has cleared
When death draws near
Salvation from the sea?
As the night closes in
Points of light remain
Like the hopes we once had
Dare we dream again?

Dare we dream again?
