It's a late night in this town
It's time to move on
Well, our time, it came and went

Find your coat, find your keys
Find the man of your dreams
And how much money he spent

So, set down your drink
You've had more than you should
Your last chance has just come and gone

Well, she's gone for the door
She looks all alone
Let me know what she looks like at dawn

Last call, again
Last call, do you know where you're going?
Last call, again

There are lovers and fighters at 2:00 am
A big girl named Carol, well, she just left with Jim
And it's hard sometimes to make up your mind
They're out in the lot and she's going down on Jim

So, roll your leg over
Take the bow not the stern
And pray before you begin

'Cause this date's not your mate
And it's not where you're going
But more like where they've been

Last call, again
Last call, do you know where you're going?
Last call, again

Slip a beer in your coat
Keep your arms to your side
'Cause going home
Well, that's a pretty good drive

Keep it under the dash
And watch who you pass
For your first D W I
[Incomprehensible]

Last call, again
Last call, do you know where you're going?
Last call, again

Last call, again
Last call [Incomprehensible]
Last call to me

Last call, again
Last call, again
Last call, again

It's my last call, again
